

Old Friends

Old Friends is a restaurant and lounge bar that extends over an area of 100 m². The project is the renovation of existing bar and intervention on the façade of the existing object. The interior consists of three zones: a lounge bar, an area for fast food and restaurant-wine bar. The designers' desire was to include these areas and visually connect them, and yet they keep their own integrity. The connection between them is the nature, so as a line of space limitations of individual zones occur with elements of birch trees and artificial grass. Birch trees make the curtain between spaces, such as algae build curtain of the external façade and make a connection between the outer street façade and interior.
